TO Wash Lace Curtains

Three or four times a year the lace curtains must go to the wash tub.

Laundering lace curtains is a bug-bear to the housewife.

It is an operation demanding unusual care—particularly the stretching and drying.

Old-fashioned methods take a great deal of time, is wearisome to the extreme, greatly inconveniencing the whole family when the room is used for this purpose.

Mulai Hafid, Moroccan Ruler, Whose Forces Routed Spaniards

The Moors fought with the usual desperation in the attack on the Spanish forces at Melilla and used even better tactics than the Spaniards. In the first skirmish they gave the Spaniards a hard fight, but showed only a part of their force, drawing away to the mountains while the engagement was still in progress. Then when the Spanish forces attacked with a battle line four miles long Mulai Hafid's legion descended upon them, cutting their center and flanking them at the same time. The Spaniards were driven back to the walls of Melilla, and Mulai Hafid promptly sent 5,000 more men to re-enforce his troops. The small picture accompanying the portrait of the sultan shows him talking to the Spanish minister. It was taken about two years ago.

PROSPERITY IN SIGHT FOR ALL

Says He Was Reared on a Farm and Knows the Signs of Good Times Ahead — Predictions Strengthen the Market.

New York, Aug. 6.—Frank Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank, formerly assistant secretary of the United States treasury and noted for his keen financial penumen, announced today to "The Examiner" that the nation is on the crest of a wave that will carry it to a period of unprecedented financial prosperity.

"I am a bull on business," he smiled. "In my opinion we are at the beginning of a long period of most profitable commercial activity. The only check to it can be some unexpected and unlooked for occurrence. Of that there is not at present the faintest indication. Not a cloud is to be seen on the financial horizon, nor is there even the semblance of one."

Vanderlip's optimistic forecast was due very largely to what he saw in the West in a three-week's trip through that section, from which he returned Thursday.

His words carried all the more weight to those captains of industry, financiers and merchants to whom it was repeated to-night because of his reputation as a business prophet. In 1903, it was recalled, Mr. Vanderlip sounded a note of warning about the tying up of capital; later he predicted the boom that reached its climax in 1906-7, and toward the end of 1906, when to the ordinary observer the sky was as clear as it is to-day, he drew attention to the danger of over-speculation that was then being indulged in and to the possibility of a money stringency that would bring a monetary panic.

How true was this reading of the commercial horoscope the multitudes who suffered in the panic of 1907, brought about largely through over-speculation, alone can tell.

"Although I was on pleasure bent," he said, "and business did not occupy my attention, I could not fail to notice the evidence of prosperity that bounded on every side. Observed the Big Crops.

"I was not concerned about business, but a mere glance now and then through the windows of the cars proved that the government experts' estimates of the enormous crop yield were not exaggerations. I was reared on a farm and I know therefore how to read such signs.

"I spend most of the time in Colorado, Idaho and Nebraska. I was especially impressed by the corn crop in the last named state.

"All the western banks are just now very strong, much stronger than they were a year or so ago. They will be able, in a large measure, I believe to finance the crop movement in their sections themselves, but still with such tremendous harvests it is only natural that they will have to call on New York to some extent.

"In view of that I look for money here to become a little tighter toward fall, but not to such an extent as to cause any trouble. There is not likely to be any stringency, nor is the situation likely to become such that resort will have to be had to the relief provided in the Aldrich emergency currency law."

Tariff Not Great Factor.
Vanderlip was asked whether the tariff, which is generally denounced by business men and merchants as revision downward, instead of the revision upward, would likely affect trade adversely.

"I am interested in the tariff only so far as to be glad that it is out of the way," he replied. "With that element of uncertainty removed business will advance, I believe, more rapidly. In fact, I am of the opinion that trade will measure so good within a short time that none of us will remember whether the tariff was revision upward or downward. As a matter of fact I don't believe Mr. Aldrich would agree with you if you told him the revision was upward all along the line. I don't think it was."

BEER A NECESSITY SAY GARY STEEL WORKERS.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Workmen at the Gary, Ind., steel plants declare that beer is a necessity and that unless they be allowed to purchase what they need in Gary they will go where the beverage may be had.

Since the closing of "blind pigs" which were running in defiance of the law, which provides that there shall be no saloons until next spring, there has been much dissatisfaction among the workmen. Scores of the men have left town and gone to work in South Chicago, Indiana Harbor and other cities in the Calumet steel belt where the liquid is yet to be had.

PRESCRIBED BY DOCTORS.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, an honest, tried and true remedy for feminine ills, holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of any similar remedy, and is prescribed and recommended by hundreds of fair-minded doctors who do not fear to recommend a worthy medicine even though it is advertised.

William D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Elevated Railway Employees, will go to New York to organize the car employees there.
